More office space for the Ahrensburg Employment Agency/Job Centre

A smoothly coordinated team achieves record results

The partners had worked together before on the construction of a new service building for the Employment Agency and Job Centre in Bad Segeberg. Their third joint project, the new building for the Employment Agency in Schleswig, is also nearing completion. PORR project manager Holger Bollwerk describes the benefits of this partnership: “This cooperative spirit creates an environment where everyone pulls together and works hard to achieve the common goal of handing over the project on time and with as few defects as possible. As the construction work was carried out during ongoing operations, close coordination with the Employment Agency was also important. The overall atmosphere on the construction site was one of understanding and mutual consideration.”

New extension for the Ahrensburg Job Centre.

The extension houses five new offices, sanitary facilities, and a large meeting room on two floors.

With a triangular ground plan directly adjoining the central building, the extension echoes the striking structural design of the two existing multi-storey buildings.
