Urban living in Altona

The flats themselves, mostly with their own balcony or terrace, offer plenty of personal space and scope for individuality. The options range from micro-apartments to spacious, light and airy four-room homes.

Business zone

The Kühnehöfe business zone was developed on the former Kühne KG site. This is no office monoculture: the site today has a varied mix of residences, hotel accommodation, offices, and places to eat. Fronting the street, the red clinker brick facade, with its vertical and horizontal 'backbones', draws on the traditional industrial architecture that formerly characterised Altona's Bahrenfeld district.
