Seamless coordination, from planning to realisation.

A showcase for ecological and economical construction methods

The Campus Futura received the German Design Award 2020 for its compact, linear architecture, whose diverse volumes and varying heights create a sculptural and highly nuanced effect. The building's heating requirements are extremely low – thanks to a thermal-bridge-free building envelope, triple insulating glazing and the ventilation systems' highly efficient heat recovery technology. The hot water supply is supported by a solar thermal system. As the warft floor and the basement are located in the flood zone of the Elbe River, the project includes structural flood protection measures.

Gold Ecolabel

Campus Futura was awarded the HafenCity Hamburg GmbH (HCH) Gold Ecolabel for special achievements in sustainable construction. The jury's decision is based on the following criteria: sustainable use of energy resources and public resources, use of environmentally friendly building materials, particular regard for health and comfort, and sustainable building operations.

Impressions

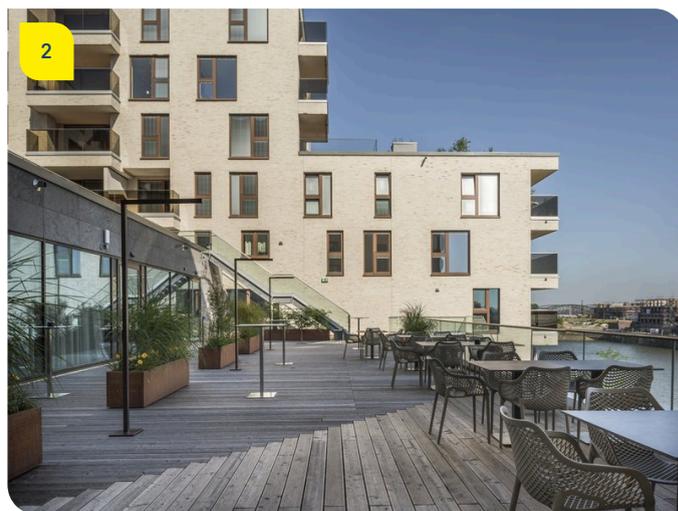

Image notes

1

Living and holidaying by the water.

The JUFA family hotel has 220 rooms, some with a view of Hamburg harbour.

2

Relaxation zone with harbour view.

The restaurant opens up to a two-storey deck overlooking the water and letting plenty of light into the building.

3

Gold ecolabel.

The building is certified with the “Hafencity Gold” ecolabel. It meets special requirements for flood defence and noise protection.
