Planning security and efficient implementation

The communal spaces are a great place to meet like-minded people who want a break from their private environment and enjoy cooking, working out or gardening together.

Perfect coordination – top quality

The client and operator of Urban Living Hamburg, i Live Group, is committed to pioneering innovation in the field of micro-living and has decades of experience in project planning and development. The project was notable for its flexible planning steps and perfect coordination with the client's in-house general property planner. The close integration of the processes was the basis for the successful realization of the high quality standards. Technical optimization suggestions were evaluated in a team with the general planner and client and implemented promptly. Despite cramped conditions on the construction site and difficult crane construction, the project was completed at the agreed time.
